THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From SATURDAY Auguſt 22, to SATURDAY Auguſt 29, 1741.

LONDON, April 25.

This Day his Majeſty put an End to the Seſſion, by the following moſt gracious SPEECH to both Houſes.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

THE Zeal and Diſpatch with which you have gone thro' the publick Buſineſs, during the Courſe of this Seſſion, are undeniable Proofs of your ſteady Regard to the Welfare of your Country, and conſequently the moſt acceptable Teſtimonies of your Duty and Affection to me. The powerful Aſſiſtance which you have given me for carrying on the juſt and neceſſary War in which I am engaged, is the beſt Means of reducing our Enemies to Reaſon; and the Vigour and Earneſtneſs which you have ſo ſeaſonably ſhewn for the Defence of the Houſe of Auſtria, and the Maintenance of the Ballance and Liberties of Europe, muſt give the greateſt Encouragement to our Friends. Theſe are the Methods to ſecure to this Nation that Weight and Influence abroad, which its natural Strength and Situation entitle it to.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

It is with particular Satisfaction, I acknowledge your Readineſs and Application, in raiſing the Supplies for the Service of the current Year; which you have done with ſo juſt a Regard to the preſent Exigencies of the Publick, as ſhews you to be the true Repreſentatives of my faithful Commons.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I cannot part with this Parliament without publickly returning you my Thanks, for the many eminent Inſtances which you have given me, of your Fidelity and Affection to my Perſon and Government; your fixed Reſolution to maintain the Proteſtant Succeſſion in my Family; and your unſhaken Adherence to the true Intereſt of your Country. You have, with the moſt becoming Spirit and Firmneſs, exerted yourſelves in vindicating and defending the Honour of my Crown, and the undoubted Rights of Navigation and Commerce belonging to my Subjects; and enabled me to revenge thoſe Wrongs and Inſults, which, contrary to the Faith of Treaties, had been committed againſt both In ſo critical a Conjuncture, you have ſupported the national Credit, and ſtrengthened the Hands of my Government, to a Degree exceeding the Expectations of thoſe, who wiſhed well to us; and to the manifeſt Diſappointment of ſuch as envied our Proſperity. At the ſame Time, you have demonſtrated to all the World, That Great-Britain is in a Condition, not only to defend herſelf, but alſo to afford a due Support to her Allies, and the common Cauſe of Europe. As ſuch a Conduct muſt give a laſting Reputation to this Parliament, ſo it will be the Subject of Emulation to thoſe which ſhall come after it.

I will immediately give the neceſſary Orders for calling a new Parliament. There is not any Thing I ſet ſo high a Value upon, as the Love and Affection of my People; in which I have ſo entire a Confidence, that it is with great Satisfaction I ſee this Opportunity put into their Hands of giving me freſh Proofs of it, in the Choice of their Repreſentatives.

On the preſent Eſtabliſhment depends the Continuance of our excellent Conſtitution in Church and State; and in this Conſtitution conſiſts the Security of the preſent Eſtabliſhment: Nothing can hurt the one, that will not, in Proportion undermine and weaken the other. For my Part, the uniform Preſervation of both, and the Maintenance of the religious and civil Rights of all my Subjects, have been, and ever ſhall be, my conſtant Care Thoſe who diſtinguiſh themſelves by perſevering in theſe Principles, ſhall always find my Countenance and Favour; and, by invariably purſuing theſe wiſe and honeſt Meaſures, we may entertain the beſt grounded Hopes, that, under the Protection of Divine Providence, the Happineſs of Great-Britain will be perpetuated to Poſterity.

Berlin, April 15 'On Tueſday laſt arrived here an Officer from Sileſia, preceeded by five Poſtillions: This 'Officer had been diſpatch'd by the King of Pruſſia, to 'give the two Queens in general, and by Word of Mouth, 'that on the 10th Inſt. there had been an Action between 'the Pruſſians and the Auſtrians, in which his Pruſſian 'Majeſty had been victorious; and that another Expreſs 'ſhould ſoon follow, with the Particulars. Accordingly, 'the next Day at Noon arrived here another Officer, pre'ceeded by 16 Poſtillions, who brought the following Ac'count: That the Auſtrian Army under the Command 'of Feldt Marſhal Count Neuperg, was advanced into Si'leſia; and his Pruſſian Majeſty being informed they were 'marching directly towards him, he immediately drew 'together all the Troops he could, and made the neceſſa'ry Diſpoſitions for a Battle: That on Monday the 10th 'Inſtant, the two Armies met, and engag'd at a Place 'call'd Molwitz or Mogwitz, about a League on his ſide 'Neiſs: That the Fight began at Two o'Clock in the 'Afternoon and laſted till Six in the Evening, when the 'Auſtrians thought proper to retire in very good Order 'under the Cannon of Neiſs, leaving the Field of Battle 'to the Pruſſians: That the Action was ſharp and bloo'dy on both ſides: That in the beginning the Auſtrians 'drove back the Left Wing of the Pruſſians at which 'Lieutenant General Count Schulenbourg commanded, 'who had the Misfortune to be kill'd the firſt Onset; but 'that this Confuſſion was ſoon after redreſs'd by the Gre'nadiers which his Pruſſian Majeſty had intermixed with 'the Horſe; ſuch a Diſpoſition being thought neceſſary, 'upon the Information his Pruſſian Majeſty had received 'that the Auſtrians were ſuperior to him in Cavalry. The 'Attack on the Pruſſians Right Wing was as warm as that 'on the Left, Five Squadrons of Schulenbourg's Dragoons 'having been almoſt deſtroy'd. The Regiments of Cara'bineers of Count Wartenſleben ſuffer'd alſo very much, 'as did alſo the firſt Batallion of Guards, who had 16 Of'ficers killed out of 25. The whole Loſs of the Auſtri'ans, according to the Accounts the two Queens have, is '4000 killed, wounded, or Priſoners; and they make 'that of the Pruſſian Army to be 600 killed, and 1200 'wounded.

He had not a Man killed or wounded, but was very much damaged in his Rigging, and had two Anchors broke by the Shot; the North Cape had but 8 Carriage and 2 Swivel Guns, and 18 Men, who behaved very well during the Engagement.

Sterling*, which in all Probability would have made it ſtand for Twenty or Thirty Years longer —— What better can be expected from THOSE who Regard their own PASSIONS and private INTEREST more than the GOOD of their Country and Fellow Subjects.

We hear alſo, that a large Ship which has loſt her Top-Maſts, was lately drove ſo near the Shore of Georgia, that when ſhe was hal'd, they could hear the Engliſhmen on board ſay, there were 20 of them Priſoners, and 30 Spaniards on board, and they were but lately taken, but had loſt their Way.
